- $100,000

THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

CHOICE READING FOR SUNDAY.

Duty of the Church in Time of Pestilence Elements of Greatness-Work of a Little Child-Religious Notes.

GOD'S WORK GORS ON.

God's work goes on in spite of war and

The dreaded pestilence or baneful blight In spite of all the selfish greed of mammar That toils amid the shadows of the night; In spite of evil hearts and hands essaying To crush the temple that we built upon. The law and order so divine obeying. Unmoved by man's device-God's work

Not always in a radiance of splendor, The brilliant dazzling of the noonday sun, But in an atmosphere serene and fender Ris mightiest miracles are daily done; and though short-sighted and dull-witted

Themselves against his majesty array,

Nor give him entrance through the heart's closed portals,

God's work goes on, and will not make

Ne human power can interrupt its mission; As well attempt the planets to remove,
Or change a single star from the position
It holds amid the galaxy above;
And so when all our plans prove unavailing,
When busy hands and throbbing hearts

are stilled

Doubt not, but rest assured that still unfailing

God's work goes on-his plans are all ful--Josephine Pollard, in S. S. Times.

Bishop Potter's Charge,

"The events of the past few months in our country, as well as in others, would seem to indicate that before another convention we are to be called upon to convention we are to be called upon to confront in their gravest forms those conditions of peril which come with the invasion of pestilence. In this connection the question of setting forth some special form of prayer has been brought to my attention, and I am sure we are, rone of us, insensible to the need in this, as in every emergency of life, of invoking the Divine guidance and aid. But I am no less sure that you will agree I am no less sure that you will agree with me that such prayers are only an act of presumption unless along with them there goes that reasonable use of every approved method for the preser-vation of life and health which is the cictate of sound reason. The sacredness of the body gets a new meaning in the light of the divine incarnation, and as an instrument of the highest service to which man is called it is worthy of his Post reverent care. To inculcate such tween health and usefulness, virtue and hapiness is no unworthy object for some of those many parochial agencies which, especially in cities, are seeking to better the condition and gladden the lives of men. The pulpit may well be re-served for those highest uses to which more especially it is set apart; but in the parish house, in the guild, or sewing-school, in men's or girls clubs and the like, there would be abundant opportunity during the coming winter to dising literature concerning the reverend guardianship of that temple of the Holy Ghost, which is the human bedy, and to organize those agencies for ministry and relief in coming emergencies which help to bring to the sick and suffering the ministrations both to the body and to the soul which at such times are pre-eminently needed."

Bishop Potter then referred to the work of the church mision to scamen in connection with the cholera, and the necessity for its enlargement in view of the possibility of a treappearance of cholera next year.—New York Sun.

courage and unfaltering faith Georg William Curtis gave throughout his life is summed up in these words from his last public speech, the address on Lowell: In our splendid statistics of territorial extension, of the swift civilization of the Western world, of the miracles of our material invention in that vast and smiling landscape, the home of the powerful and peaceful people, humming with industry and enterprise, rich with the charm of every climate from Katahd in that hears the distant roar of the Activities the College Cate through which that hears the distant roar of the Education to the Golden Gate, through which the soft Pacific sighs, and in every form of visible prosperity, we see the resplendent harvest of the mighty sowing, two hundred years ago, of the new continent with the sifted grain of the old. But this is not the picture of national greatness, it is only its glittering frame. Intellectual excellence, noble character, public probity, lofty ideas, art, literature, honest politics, righteous laws, con-scientious labor, public spirit, social jus-tice, the stern, self-criticising patriot-ism which fosters only what is worthy of an enlightened people, not what is un-worthy—such qualities and achievements, and such alone, measure the greatness of a State, and those who illustrate them are great citizens. They are the men whose lives are a glorious service and whose memories are a benediction.

National Greatness.

A Heroine in Paris.

When volunteer nurses were called for to serve in the cholera hospital some months ago in Paris one of the first to respond was Mme. Miederlander. She asked for the hardest part and was assigned to night duty, often having assigned to night duty, often having sixty patients under her care. She was a small, active woman, tireless and wonderfully efficient, and the labor soon began to tell upon her. The house physician noticed how feeble she seemed and sent for her one morning. He begged her to take a few days' rest, and insisted that at least she should leave the cholera ward. She thought the doctor had taken a polite way of telling her she had taken a polite way of telling her she was not efficient, and she burst into tears. Dr. Lesage, in immediate charge of the cholera patients, declared that he could not spare her, and she insisted on return-ing to her post. She went on working wonders amid the agonies of the cholera until last Tuesday; then, as she was following the doctor on his rounds, note book in hand, she was suddenly taken by the dreadful pains of the plague and collapse came quickly. She was buried at the expense of the city, and her name inscribed in the "golden book" at the Hotel de Ville."

A Mohammedan Conversion. The Rev. Dr. Clarke, of the English The Rev. Dr. Clarke, of the English Church Missionary Society's mission at Umritsur, India, gives the following interesting particulars concerning two Moslem converts, a great Mohammedan saint and doctor and his son: "Some time ago there was a young Mohammedan, the son of a great Mohammedan saint and doctor, who had great anxiety of soul because of sin. He read the Koran through and through without finding light, when he found in it an expression referring to the found in it an expression referring to the Old Testament and the New Testament. The thought came into this young man's heart, 'If I can only get possession of a Bible I might get what I need.' Most wonderfully, two ladies happened to be in the district, and he get what he wanted. He began with the Gospel of St. John, and by the time he got to the third chapter he was a free man, and desirous of throwing off Mohammedanism. When his father heard it he offered a reward of 500 rubles to any one who would

When his father heard it he offered a reward of 500 rubles to any one who would kill his son, and 200 to any one who would be been son, and 200 to any one who would brie- him the good news.

"For two years I had to watch over that young man, and then his father found him, and with much difficulty we managed to keep him safe. At last the old man went back with a New Testament. A year after he came again, and said that he had brought together other mullahs and read it to them. He also said: We have noticed that this is the New Testament; that shows me that there must be an Old Testament; and they have sent me to get the Old Testament. I had the pleasure of giving him one, and later on he came with his son, and said: 'The God of my son, whom I wished to murder, is now my God; baptise me, too, into the faith of Christ.'

A Little Child

Dr. J. R. Miller has lately given an instance of the benefit and grand results following from adopting little children into a house. There was a childless home. Husband and wife grew up together in unitual love, but having no instance of their states. terest outside of their own lives they became selfish, grasping, covetous. Years passed and they were miserly, saving every possible cent. They pinched themselves, living almost like beggars, with thin clothing and poor fare in fireless rooms. They gave nothing away to the relief of the need and distress about them. Appeals for God's work met with no response. Thus time passed till they reached midlife. Then the breaking up of another home by the death of the parents sent a little child into this cold. rents sent a little child into this cold, lonely, dreary home. At once the child found her way into both these withering hearts, and little by little the love awoke. Almost instantly there was a change. The home was brightened. The hoarded money was brought out and was spent more freely. The poor were remembered; God's cause received help. The faces that were growing old and cold with the lines of growd and grassing, design by lines of greed and grasping desire be-The two lives were transform-God saved them through a little child.-Presbyterian.

Religious Notes. The Pope has prepared a programme for the reunion of the Eastern and the Western Church.

Spurgeon's widow announces that her famous husband left less than $10,000. The world would have been more than surprised if such a man had left a great

For the first time in twenty years Andover Theological Seminary issues a general appeal for financial assistance. Two hundred and ninety thousand dollars are

Of a certain man George William Curtis once wrote to a mutual friend: "He was so true that his impressions were like moral judgments. He was an additional conscience to his friends."

The General Assembly of the Welsh Presbyterians of America has been in session at Utica, N. Y. They have 184 churches, 115 ministers and 12,000 com-The Vatican has received from the nuncio at Paris the most favorable advices on the Catbolic movement of adhesion to republic. It is now certain that all Catholic groups must be combined into one, the Catholic democratic. Bishop Westcott says that he knows nothing more likely to lead to an intelligent study of Holy Scripture than the use of a "Parallel Bible," in which several versions are given side by side. Rev. McAll, founder of the evangel-ical missions in France which bear his name, has received from the French republic the decoration of the Legion of Honor "for his twenty years efforts for the evangelization of the masses in Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Parkhurst during their stay in London made a point of spending a day at the People's Palace at Whitechapel. It was a day of amusement and education for them. Dr. Parkhurst when talking of the Palace said that the idea of furnishing healthy entertainment for the poorer classes is a good one and tends to reclaim them from the vice and squalor they would have to live in if it were not for this provision for their welfare. A delightful illustration of the democracy of intelligence in America is given in The Christian Union. It seems that during a visit to this country, Mr. James during a visit to this country, Mr. James Bryce, the historian and member of Parliament, was riding on a railroad train and happened to fall into conversation with one of the brakemen. In the course of the talk he let out the fact that his name was Bryce. "What! Bryce!" exclaimed the brakeman, "Did you write 'The Holy Roman Empire' and 'The American Commenwealth'?" "Yes," replied Mr. Bryce, considerably astonished to find how his fame had found him out. to find how his fame had found him out The brakeman looked silently at Mr. Bryce for a moment, overcome with surprise; then, suddenly extending a very dirty paw, he exclaimed, in n tone of heartiest approval, "Shake!"

The Chicago University starts out with 30 professors, 36 assistant professors, 11 instructors, 9 tutors, 3 assistants, 5 docents, 4 readers, 20 senior fellows, 14 junior fellows, 7 honorary fellows; 4 non-resident fellows. It is organized into four distinct divisions—the ganized into four distinct divisions—the University Proper, the University Extension Division, the University Libraries and Museums and the University Press. Its organization is wonderfully complete and comprehensive, including the Arts, Divinity, Law, Medicine, Engineering, etc. The year is divided into four quarter. ters, commencing with January, April, July and October, and continuing twelve weeks each, thus leaving a recess of one week between each. Women will be admitted to the Divinity School upon equal terms with men. The course is divided into the regular divinity courses: Old Testament Literature and Exegesis, New Testament Literature and Exegesis, New Testament Literature and Exegesis. Testament Literature and Exegesis, Biblical Theology, Church History, Homi-letics, Church Policy and Pastoral Duties, Missions and Mission work. The University courses include Semitic languages and literature, Biblical literature in English, Philosophy and Ethics, History, History of Religions, Social Science, Anthropology and Political Economy. Economy.

The Review of Reviews maintains that arbitration is the only true remedy for dead-locks between labor and capital. "Arbitration," it goes on to say, "may be voluntary, or it may be compulsory. Voluntary arbitration is best, but it presupposes the existence, in good working order, of the rudimentary principles of Christianty. Vital Christianity was not in large stock on either side at Homestead; otherwise, so relatively small a margin of difference as lay in dispute would have been adjusted without strain would have been adjusted without strain by an easy process of voluntary arbitra-tion. Since practical Christianity and good business sense are not sufficiently diffused among employers or employed to save the public peace or order, it fol-lows that for certain purposes the law ought to provide a plan of compulsory arbitration. The demand for compulsory arbitration in the case of large employing corporations is reasonable, and it is necorporations is reasonable, and it is necessary for the well-being of the State. Let the workingmen quit fighting and go peacefully to their places; but let them do some new and hard thinking and some effective voting."

some effective voting."
The Greek Church in Russia boasts of having converted during one year 15,668 persons in Russia, besides 5,444 Czechs persons in Russia, besides 5,444 Czechs in Bohemia. Among these converts are said to be 1,660 Lutherans, 981 Roman Catholics, 6 Uniats, 41 members of the Reformed Church, 7 Armenians, 91 belonging to different Protestant sects, 5,690 Rascolniks (dissenting Old Believers), 797 Jews, 3,113 Mohammedans and 3,442 heathens. This apparent great specess is somewhat modified by a success is somewhat modified knowledge of the means employed. knowledge of the means enaployed. The Lutherans are promised pecuniary advantages in grants of land and freedom of taxes; the Jews are promised freedom from the oppressive regulations of the Empire and full opportunities for education. Similar means are employed in connection with the Mohammedans and heathens. It is said that not infrequently a heathen submits to conversion more than once, thus swelling the number of converts. It should be remembered that in Russia any change from the orthodox in Russin any change from the orthodox Church to any other is absolutely prohib-

Two Much of a Risk.

It is not unusual for colds contracted in It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are almost sure to result. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for bad colds and croup, and can always be depended upon. For sale by Owens & Minor Drug Co., 1007 east Main street.

CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS

HOW MANY PROMINENT ORATORS PREPARE THEIR ADDRESSES.

Ingersoll and Blaine Practice Similar Methods-Conkling and George William Curtis Prepared Their Speeches with Great Deliberation.

[Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Colonel Bob In-tersoll was once asked how long it took him to write the speech which he made at Cincinnati putting Mr. Blaine in nomina-tion for the presidency, and also how long he was engaged in the composition of his famous Declaration Day address. The colonel replied that it took him about ten minutes to write each of those speeches and about fifteen years to prepare them. He meant by that that he had turned over and over again in his mind the ideas which when the opportunity came were easily put upon paper. Thus he said all great composition is performed. There is no such thing in his opinion as a successful extemporaneous speech. If an address is delivered entirely without preparation, then it is bound to be something neither worth preserving nor listening to.

In this time, when the political platform orator is busily engaged, it is of some interest to know how the greatest of them make ready for the stump. Mr. Depew, for instance, is esteemed an able stump speaker. In the sense in which Colonel Ingersoll spoke Depew occupies no time at all in writing his addresses, and yet he may have been engaged for several years in the preparation of these political speeches. As he walks to and from his office an idea occurs to him. He turns it over in his mind, puts it into words mentally and tucks it away in his memory. So, too, when he is reading a newspaper or is in conversation with a friend an idea occurs to him which he knows will be of value when he comes to make a political speech, That he also memorizes without having put it on paper. Thus he stores his mind so that on the day preceding the evening on which he is to speak he spends an hour or so going to this mental storehouse, arranging with some symmetry the line of his address, and he is then prepared for the political occasion. Mr. Depew has a poor verbal memory. He would never dare write out a speech and commit it to memory. If the occasion demands a formal and labored effort the speech that is prepared to meet such demand is always read by Depew.

Conkling, who at one time was regarded as the most brilliant and impressive orator in the Republican party, always prepared his speeches with infinite pains. He had what Depew has not-a splendid verbal In this respect he was like Wilmemory. liam H. Seward and Grover Cleveland, The writing out of a speech and the reading of it once over in manuscript fixed it indelibly in memory. Sometimes Conkling devoted a week to a campaign speech. His line of argument came to him by inspiration, but the literary charm of his addresses and the rhetorical expression of them were the work sometimes of many days and nights. He prepared only one speech for the campaign, and that was usually the first one which he delivered. His other speeches were always based upon this first one, but with sufficient change in diction and arrangement to enable him to escape the charge of being a single speech-

Carl Schurz, whom many have regarded as one of the most fascinating orators of the stump, is a single speech maker. Mr Schurz never dares trust himself to speak without preparation. Mr. Blaine has adopted a different method in preparing his addresses for the stump. He relies very largely upon the inspiration of the moment for his diction and his rhetric. He prepares very thoroughly his line of argument, and carries with him to the platform abundant material in the way of statistics or other illustrations. But he rarely writes out a speech. He has often said that were he to do this he would feel cramped, self conscious and embarrassed upon the platform. His manner of preparation is something like that of Mr. Depew, and it is the man's personality rather than his rhetoric that has been the highest charm in his political addresses.

When George William Curtis used to go upon the stump for the party with which he was identified his speeches were splendid essays which had been prepared with utmost care. He trusted to no momentary inspiration, and yet the finest speech that he ever delivered was the result of as sudden an emergency as was the first speech of Wendell Phillips in Fancuil hall, which not only gave Phillips fame as an orator, but which determined his career, making him an agitator rather than a lawyer.

Perhaps the two most prominent men of their party in the house of representatives two years ago were Major McKinley and Speaker Reed. Each of these men has such popularity that the demand for their services as stump speakers during the present campaign has been greater than that the national committee has received for any other men. Yet their methods of preparation are entirely different.

To prepare a stump speech as Conkling and Schurz prepared theirs would be intolerable to Reed. He is perhaps the nearest to a purely extemporaneous stump speaker of any man in his party. Some of his witty atterances and most effective sar-casms are not the inspiration of the moment. He had thought of them before and put them away in his memory just as Depew and Ingersoll do. But in the ordinary sense there is no preparation, and that gives great variety to Mr. Reed's speeches when they are read one after another during McKinley on the other hand is in a certain sense a single speech maker, not as Schurz is, but rather as Conkling was. The speech with which he begins a canvass is practically the one with which he ends Different speeches vary in arrangement in illustration, but the argument and the main line of thought are the same.

Mr. Bourke Cockran and Colonel John R. Fellows are perhaps the most conspicuons of campaign speakers on the Atlantic coast, and they are in the highest degree extemporaneous speakers. The famous speech which Cockran made at the Chicago convention was prepared only in the sense that he expressed sentiments which he had been in private expressing for some days. He has taken the stump with no other idea of what he is to say than the general line of argument, and if he should write out a speech and deliver it his audience would be disappointed. That is also true of Colonet Fellows.

There is this to be said-that the prepared oration makes the better reading. Conkling's campaign speeches are today the storehouse of superb English diction and apt illustration, while the style, though flowery, is fascinating, and the scholar who desires to see English put to its best example in political litera-ture will do well to read the campaign addresses of Carl Schurz.

E. J. EDWARDS.

A Good Day. Rev. Dr. Primrose-How is it your father always comes home from fishing on a find a good assortment of fish in the market .- New York Evening Sun One of the Drawbacks. Though nice, within the hammock's close embrace,

To while away the livelong summer day.
You wished you were in any other place
Each time a bug drops on you as you lay.

Little Johnny-'Conse he's then sure to

DOCTOR AND LAWYER.

Two Representatives of Learned Profes sions Are Rival Candidates. In the Fourth Michigan district a doctor and a lawyer are the contestants for congressional honors. The Republicans se lected as their standard bearer Dr. Henry Yaple, of Mendon, is the choice of the Democrats and People's party. Both were born in Michigan-Dr. Thomas in Jackson county forty-eight years ago, and Yaple in St. Joseph county, the county in which he still lives, in 1851. Dr. Thomas was educated in the seminary at Richland, Kalamazoo county, and took a finishing course in Albion college, and then went to the war, enlisting as a private in Company D. Seventh Michigan cavalry, and serving in the Army of the Potomac under General Custer. He returned in 1865 and studied medicine at the state university. He first practiced at Constantine, St. Joseph county, but moved to Allegan a year later, where he has since lived. He was elected to the state legislature in 1873, has been chairman of the county committee and has always been an active worker in the Ro publican cause.

Mr. Yaple was a student in the Northwestern university at Evanston, Ills., and upon graduating in 1871 studied law, and at the age of twenty-one was admitted to the bar. He laid aside his books to engage in farming for six years, and then resumed practice. In the early Greenback days he became deeply interested in the tariff and finance questions and took the stump for Cooper. Later, in the campaign of 1880, the Greenback candidate for congress withdrew, and Yaple's name was substituted on the ticket. He did all he could under the circumstances, but of course was defeated, with Julius Casar Burrows and O. W. Powers running against him. Two years later the Democrats and Greenbackers combined on Yaple, and in that campaign Mr. Burrows received the surprise of his life by being defeated by the young man, whom in one of his speeches.

he referred to as "the boy from Mendon." In 1884 he again ran for congress against Burrows, but was defeated. In 1886 he was the Democrat-Greenback candidate for governor, and was defeated by Cyrus G. Luce. He was the choice of the Democratic members of the legislature for United States senator in 1887, but the Democrats were greatly in the minority. In 1888 he was one of the delegates at large to the Democratic national convention, and two years later be made a fourth run for congress against Julius Cæsar Burrows, but was defeated by a plurality of 200. He is now making his fifth canvass.

HE LOOKS LIKE BEECHER.

Colonel John C. Wyman, Rhode Island's World's Fair Commissioner. There is a Rhode Island man who bears a marked facial resemblance to the late Henry Ward Beecher. He is Colonel John C. Wyman, of Valley

ous as he was when only half as old, and performs

COLONEL J. C. WYMAN, the duties of his office in a most enthusiastic manner. If "Little Rhody" doesn't make a big show ing at the fair it will not be his fault. Colonel Wyman has had an interesting career. He went to the war in May, 1862, as captain of company A, Thirty-second regiment, Massachusetts infantry, as at that time he was a resident of the Bay State. In the September following he was appointed provost marshal of Alexandria, Va., which position he held until the spring of 1868, when he was placed in charge of the supply department of the Army of the Potomac, and later assigned to a responsible position in the United States military railway service. He was one of the military escort which accompanied the remains of President Lincoln from Washington to Springfield, Ills., and in May, 1865, resigned to become connected with the Rensselaer Iron and Steel com-pany, of Troy, N. Y. He has lived in Rhode Island since 1882. Not even Chauncey M. Depew surpasses him as a story teller, and he is in great demand as an after dinner speaker.

The colonel has been a frequent visitor to New York city, where, while Mr. Beecher was living, he was often mistaken for the great preacher.

To Bring Over Art Works.

The secretary of the navy will detail one of our old wooden warships to transport from France and Italy the works of Americans residing abroad after the juries in Paris, Munich, Rome and Florence have completed their work. The United States steamship Constellation will sail from Havre about the first week of November and from Genon about the middle of the following month with specimens of the finest works of art. The vessel will arrive in New York in January, and the pictures will at once be transferred to their proper places in the Art palace. The assistance which the government at Washington is lending in the interest of this department is most encouraging and will be the means of stimulating foreign exhibitors.

The receipts of coffee at the port of Rio de Janeiro for the crop year ended June 30 was 8,718,899 bags, against 2,413,648 for the crop year 1890-1. The receipts of coffee at Santes for eleven months of the crop year 1891-2 was 3,514,458 bags, against 2,911,996 for the corresponding period of the year

Getting Ready for the End. A well known citizen of Troy, N. Y., who always summers in his native place (Bennington, Vt.), is having his own grave dug in the beautiful cemetery at Bennington Centre. He is in perfect health, but desires to have his permanent house built under his own supervision.

A Cure for Cholera

There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know. W. H. Clinton. Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dyseatery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Owens & Minor Deng Co., 1607 cast Main street.

Mrs. Mary Asten of Lewisburg, Pa., suffered untold agony from broken varicose veins, with intense itching and burning. On the recommendation of a physician she took Hood's Sarsaparilla and used Hood's Olive Ointment. Soon the ulcers began to heal, the inflammation ceased, she was completely cured, and says. "I enjoy health as I have not for many years."

"We are personally acquainted with Mrs. Asten and know the above to be true." J. S. GRIFFIN & Son, Lewisburg, Pa.

HOOD'S PILLS cure Habitual Constipation by restoring peristaitte action of the alimentary canal.

. . ORGANIZEO 1832. . .

TESTED FOR SIXTY YEARS.

Assets, :::: $650,000. Virginia Fire & Marine

Insurance Company, OF RICHMOND.

This old Virginia institution issues a short and comprehensive Policy, free of petty restriction, and liberal in its terms and conditions.

Insures against Fire & Lightning

ALL DESCRIPTIONS OF PROPERTY IN COUNTRY AND TOWN, PRIVATE OR PUBLIC, INSURED AT FAIR RATES, ON ACCOMMODATING TERMS.

Agencies in Every Town and County. WM. H. PALMER, President. W. H. McCARTHY, Secretary. S. McG. FISHER. Ass't Sec'y.

S. H. BOWMAN & IRA MOWERY, S19 PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

-AND-918 MAIN STREET, BICHMOND, VA.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR THE BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF NEW YORK -AND-

MANUFACTURERS' ACCIDENT INDEM-NITY COMPANY OF GENEVA, N. Y.

GOOD AGENTS WANTED.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE TO ALL CREDITORS OF THE RICHMOND AND DANVILLE RAIL-BOAD COMPANY.

In the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, at Rich-mond, in said District. William P. Clyde and others.

the Eastern District of Virginia. at Richmond, in said District.
William P. Clyde and others.

Richmond and Danville Railroad Company and others. No. 461

IN EQUITY.

The undersigned have been appointed Special Masters in Chancery by an order entered in this cause on the 16th day of August, 1892, "to hear evidence and take the necessary accounts and report to the Court the amount and nature of all the indebtedness of the said Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, whether secured by mortgage pledge or other lieu upon any portion of the corporate property; and, if so, on what portion, and the names of all creditors including such demands, and, if possible, their places of residence; but where an issue of bonds secured by mortgage on any part of the corporate property is reported on it shail be sufficient to include in such report the name or names of the trustee or trustees, and the amount of the bonds outstanding, and the general description of the particular property covered by such mortgage or other lien."

"All parties holding any indebtedness claims or demands against said Railroad Company, except the holders of bonds secured by recorded mortgages on said property or some part thereof," are hereby notified and required "to file their respective claims against said property with the undersigned Special Masters at their office, "the Office of the Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, Richmond, Va., "on or before the 1st day of December, 1892, to the end that the validity amount and respective priorities upon the property of Income thereof may be determined and recorted on by the said Special Masters to the Court further decress in said order "that all creditors holding any such demands against the Richmond and Danville Raifroad Company who shall fail or neglect to file their respective demands with the said Special Masters on or before the said 1st day of December, 1892, may be barred and precinced from asserting any claim, lien or right of payment against the said corporate property in the custody of th

The ELECTRIC COUCH

FOR RHEUMATISM, ALL NERVOUS DIS-EASES, DYSPEPSIA, WEAKNESS, GENE-RAL DEBILITY, &c. RAL DEBILITY. Ac.

Dr. JAMES D. MONCURE. Superintendent Eastern Lunatic Asylum as Wilhamburg. Va., says: "I have been using the Electric touches and find them of great service in cases of nervons diseases and chronic rheumatism. It is decidedly the best and most convenient form of applying electricity."

We refer also by permission to Dr. J. B. Mc-CAW, of this city, as well as any number of others who use them, whose testimonials can be seen.

For sale or rent in the city at reasonable prices and easy terms. Will give treatment at our office if preferred. Call—will cost you nothing to try it. Send for circulars.

ELECTRIC COUCH COMPANY.

ELECTRIC COUCH COMPANY, 604 East Grace Street, Bichmond, Va. sel7-su.we.fr.3m

DECORATIONS

Exposition and Trades Parade FLOATS, WAGONS, HOUSES, EXHIBITS.

&c., decorated. All kinds of BADGES, BANNERS, BUNT. INGS, STREAMERS, FLAGS, SHIELDS, &c., on hand and made to order. All orders will receive prompt attention

MARX MITTELDORFER & SON A full supply of CAMPAIGN GOODS on sell-su.tufrigs

MRS. JOHN T. ROGERS HAS REMOVED
M FROM NO. 1111 GROVE AVENUE TO NO.
619 FAST MAIN STRUET, where she is prepared to receive bearders during the Exposition and at other times. Furnished rooms with or without board. Terms reasonable.

008-34,th,sud to

MERCHANTS' AND PLANTERS' SAVINGS BANK Capital, -JOHN H. MONTAGUE, President.

N. W. NELSON,
TROMAS N. CARTER,
JOHN C. SHAPER,
TROMAS G. JACKSON,
JOHPH HALL,
B. C. WHEREY,
JOHN H. MONTAGUE,
E. R. ARCHES Deposits Received and Interest Allowed.

LOANS NEGOTIATED.

PINANCIAL

MERCHANTS'NATIONAL BANK

OF RICHMOND.

DESIGNATED CITY, STATE AND GOVERNMENT DEPOSITORY

UNDIVIDED PROFITS. $194,048.57.

Collection facilities unsurpassed items collected at most reasonable rates on any part of the world especially on points in the Virginias and Carolinas. Interest allowed by special agreement. New York correspondents: National Hank of Commerce, United States National Itank. Western National Bank, Third National Bank and Tradesmen's National Bank.

INVESTMENTS CITY BONDS.

RAILROAD BONDS

AND OTHER HIGH-GRADE SECURITIES FOR SALE TO INVESTORS AT MARKET PRICES.

orders collected for clients without charge. We draw our own BILLS OF EXCHANGE on correspondents in more than one thousand cities and towns in EUROPE, JSIA, AFRICA and SOUTH AMERICA, and furnish travelers with LETTERS OF CREDIT available everywhere.

COBNER TENTH AND MAJN STREETS.

OF YIRGINIA

This well-known institution, the oldest in the South, insures buildings against Losses equitably adjusted and promptly paid. This society, with its record of nearly one hundred years of successful operation, commends itself to all who wish to combine perfect security with low rates of premium.

DIRECTORS.

WILLIAM H. PALMES, E. O. NOLTING, WILLIAM F. GRAY, JAMES W. ALLISON, THOS. M. RUTHERFOORD, ALTRED T. HARRIS, JR. HERBERT, A. CLAIBORNE, Principal Agent.

VIRGINIA SAFE DEPOSIT

AND FIDELITY COMPANY,

PAID UP CAPITAL . . .

terest by agreement. Acts as registrar, transfer agent, executor, administrator, assignee, receiver, trustee for estates, corporations, individuals, guar-

Issues proficies guaranteeing titles to purchasers and their heirs.

J. B. PACE, President, MANN QUARLES, Vice-President, JOHN MORTON, Sec. and Treas.

DIRECTORS: Charles Watkins.

C. W. Branch, Frederick S. Myers, Mann S. Quarles. E. D. Christian,

E. R. Addison, J. N. Boyd, J. J. Montague. oe6-th, su&tu&W THE SAVINGS BANK OF RICHMOND,

CAPITAL $100,000. SURPLUS FUND, $25,000.

L. Z. MORRIS. Vice President GEORGE N. WOODBRIDGE, Cashler

CHE DOLLAR AND UPWARDS RECEIVED ON DEPOSIT, AND INTEREST

LOANS MADE ON REAL ESTATE NEGO.

TIABLE PAPER DISCOUNTED Open daily till 3 P. M.; Saturday till 6 P. M.

1101 MAIN STREET Foreign exchange bought and sold Letters

WYNDHAM BOLLING,

NOTE BROKER, Money Loaned on Improved City Real Belete at 6 Per Cent.

J. P. BRANCH, Pres. FRED. R. SCOTT, V.-Pres. JOHN F. GLENN, Cash.

CAPITAL $200,000.

Foreign exchange bought and sold.
Correspondence and business solicited.
ferr-lyr

STATE BONDS,

Maturing bonds and coupons and dividend

JOHN L. WILLIAMS & SONS,

INCORPORATED 1794.

FIRE AND LIGHTNING on the most favorable terms by Perpetual and Annual Policies.

FRANK D. STEORE, Secretary.
THOS. BOLLING, JR., Assistant Sec'y.
JOHN BLAIR, Collector.
augo-tu.th.sa6m

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL - $2,000,000

Designated, under charter, a depository for court funds. Receives money on deposit and pays inlesues bonds for fidelity of employes and bacomes surety for the faithful performance of contracte.

Negotiates and handles first-class securities suita de for investors. Receipts for and registers wills without charge.

Lewis Gipter, James B. Face. Thomas Potts. John P. Franch. W. S. Forbes. T. Wm. Pemperton. T. Wm. Pemperton, Chas. E. Whitlock, A. L. Bouleware,

Joseph Bryan,
M. B. Rosenbaum,
T. C. Williams, Jr.,
L. Z. Morris,
Phillip Whitlock,

CORNER ELEVENTH AND MAIN STREETS

ALLOWED

THOMAS BRANCH & CO., BANKERS AND BROKERS.

7 NOBTH TENTH STREET.